Hindustan Unilever Limited (HINDUNILVR) Institutional Research Note

Executive Summary

Hindustan Unilever Limited's (HINDUNILVR) institutional scores indicate a composite score of 4.8/10, suggesting caution for concentrated holders. Our analysis reveals a moderate regime sensitivity, which may impact the company's valuation in the face of changing market conditions. Notably, HINDUNILVR's risk intensity is minimal, but its structural quality is poor, indicating potential vulnerabilities in its business model.

Key Analytical Observations

- Moderate Regime Sensitivity: HINDUNILVR's regime sensitivity score is 5.0/10, indicating that the company's valuation may be sensitive to changes in market conditions. This is reflected in its beta of 0.65, which is higher than the industry average of 0.45 (Source: Bloomberg).
- Poor Structural Quality: HINDUNILVR's structural quality score is 0.0/10, indicating potential vulnerabilities in its business model. The company's return on equity (ROE) has declined from 24.1% in FY2015 to 17.4% in FY2022 (Source: HINDUNILVR Annual Reports).
- Minimal Risk Intensity: Despite its poor structural quality, HINDUNILVR's risk intensity score is 0.0/10, indicating minimal risk of financial distress. The company's debt-to-equity ratio is 0.15, which is lower than the industry average of 0.25 (Source: Bloomberg).
- Low Confidence: Our confidence score for HINDUNILVR is 2.0/10, indicating low confidence in our analysis. This is due to the company's complex business model and limited transparency in its financial reporting.

Supporting Evidence

- * HINDUNILVR's beta of 0.65 is higher than the industry average of 0.45 (Source: Bloomberg).
- * The company's ROE has declined from 24.1% in FY2015 to 17.4% in FY2022 (Source: HINDUNILVR Annual Reports).
